TROOPS SAIL FOR CUBA.

FIRST DIVISION OF THE U. S. ARMY LEAVE KEY WEST.

Story of the Fight at the Harbor of Guantanamo—Several American Marines Injured and Many Spaniards Wounded.

Under command of Major General Shafter, the first division of the United States Army from Key West, has sailed for Santiago to besiege and capture the town. The transports, thirty in number are under the command of between sixteen and nineteen warships. With this powerful force there is no longer reason for apprehension that the transports can be attacked successfully by any Spanish warships, even if such should have escaped the vigilant search of the naval commanders at Key West and off Havana.
It is believed that the rally out of Havana of the three Spanish gunboats was intended to create the impression that they were prepared to go out to attack the transports. If so, the plan was carried for the craft were detected by Commodore Watson's cruisers and driven back pell-mell into Havana harbor under the protection of the guns of the shore batteries. Even if these boats had escaped they could have done no damage, for the size of the convey furnished for the troops is sufficient to warrant the belief that they would have been speedily destroyed should they have had the courage to make an attack upon the fleet of the United States ships. The Spanish gunboats are not of a formidable character, not one of them being the equal in power of the smallest of the United States cruisers or even of such gunboats as the little Albatross, which may be used as General Shafter's flagship. Every precaution has been taken by the government to secure the safety of the troops en route to Cuba.

The following account is given of the fighting between the United States marines who were landed to guard the cable station at the entrance to the outer harbor of Guantanamo, who were engaged in fighting of a land attack by Spanish guerrillas and regulars.

The engagement began with desultory firing at the piers, a thousand yards inland from the camp. Capt. Spier's company was doing guard duty and was driven in, finally rallying on the camp and repulsing the enemy. The bodies of Privates McGowan and Dunphy were found shot in the head. The large cavities caused by the bullets, which inside a range of 200 yards, have a rotary motion, indicate that the victims were killed at close range. The bodies were stripped of shoes and cartridge belts and horribly mutilated with machetes.
The sky was blanketed with clouds, and when the sun set in was blowing seaward, night fell thick and impenetrable.
The Spanish squads concealed in the clapnet cover had the advantage, the United States forces on the ridge furnishing fine targets against the sky and the white tents. The Spaniards fought from cover till midnight, discoverable only by flashes at which the marines fired volleys.
The Marblehead landed a coil machine gun in her bow, pointing up the bay, enfilading the Spaniards, and it is thought that some were killed.

Three new twelve pound field guns which could not be used during the night for fear of hitting the marines shelled several squads of Spaniards after daylight. They drove into the bushes the practice dogs into burrows as the bells broke over them.

The ships threw their searchlights ashore, the powerful electric rays sweeping the deep trophic foliage and exposing occasionally skulking parties of Spaniards. Each discovery of the enemy was greeted by the crackle of carbines along the edge of the camp ridge or by the long roll of the launch's machine gun, searching the thickets with leaden streams.
Shortly after midnight came the main attack. The Spaniards made a gallant charge up the southwest slope, but were met by repeated volleys from the main body and broke before they were a third of the way up the hill, but they came so close at points that there was almost a hand to hand struggle. The officers used their revolvers. Three Spaniards got through the open formation on to the edge of the camp. Colonel Jose Campino, the Cuban guide, discharged his revolver and they turned and finding themselves without support, ran better shelter down the reverse side of the hill.
It was during this assault that Assistant Surgeon Gibbs was killed. He was shot in the head in front of his own tent, the farthest point of attack. The surgeons of the hospital corps then removed their quarters to the trenches about the old Spanish stockade north of the camp.
The attacks were continued at intervals throughout the night, with firing from small squads in various directions.
Towards morning the fire slackened down as the favorite time for attack and as the east paled, the marines, lying on their guns, were aroused. Some were actually asleep, as they have had no rest for forty-eight hours, and tired nature could no longer stand the strain. But no attack came.

Estimates vary as to the attacking force. Some say 200 and the figures run as high as 1,000. Colonel Campino, the Cuban guide, says the Spaniards were mostly irregulars, but the reports of the discharge of Mauser rifles indicate that they were regulars, as most of the guerillas carry Remingtons. The Cuban guerillas, as a rule, have more dash and courage than the regulars.

The loss caused several accidents.
In drawing cartridges Corporal Glass shattered his hand. Despite the loss of the men, which is greatly regretted, the marines rejoice that they have been engaged in their first fight on Cuban soil.

When the Associated Press dispatch boat Dauntless left Guantanamo Bay early in the morning after the thirteen hours' skirmish between the United States marines under Lieut. Col. Huntington and the Spanish guerrillas, it was expected that the fighting would be renewed. The Marblehead was heading reinforcements, and nothing had been heard from the advance pickets under Lieut. Shaw. At nine o'clock the firing was again renewed by the Spaniards, who appeared off the camp on the edge of a small island about a mile to the northeast. It was promptly returned by thirteen rifles and a three inch field gun, and in a short time all signs of the enemy had disappeared. Col. Huntington then sent to the landing for a second three inch gun, which was dragged up the hill and placed in a position at the summit.

The skirmish lines thrown around the camp kept up a popping all the morning, but with not much result. Meanwhile the Marblehead left the harbor and threw a few shells into the woods.

To the great delight of the marines in camp, Lieutenants Neville and Shaw, with thirty men of Company D, returned in good shape, but much exhausted by eighteen hours of picket duty. One man, Sergeant Smith, of Company K, had been shot through the abdomen and instantly killed. During most of the day and night Lieutenants Neville and Shaw had been surrounded by a much superior force, but men and officers behaved splendidly, and although the firing of the Spaniards was constant and heavy, Lieutenant Neville's detachment held its own, inflicting much more loss than it sustained. At least five Spaniards are known to have been killed, and as Lieutenant Neville's men kept up a steady fire throughout the night and the enemy was not at a great distance, it is believed that the Spanish casualties were heavy.

The battleship Texas arrived in the morning and sent ashore forty marines and two automatic Colt guns as reinforcements. The Marblehead also sent an additional small detachment.

Private Bartholomew McCowan, of Company D, will lose his hand, which was shattered by a Mauser bullet. Amputation will be necessary. The Marble-head's pilot, who was shot through the leg while guiding the cruiser out of the harbor this morning, holds the rank of a colonel in the Cuban service.

The first army of invasion of Cuba now well on its way, thirty-two trans-porters, bearing 15,000 officers and mercenaries, escorted by battleships, cruisers, gunboats and auxiliary craft, sixteen in number, having actually sailed from Key West at daybreak. An authoritative statement to this effect was made at the war department, setting at rest all reports that the expedition was on its way or had landed last week. The authorities made the announcement for the reason that the time for secrecy is now past, as the scout boats made sure that the path was clear before it, and no possible danger could come from the Spanish ships or troops, even should the enemy know, that our forces were now advancing.

In a few days at the latest the transports will be off Santiago and a large United States army will make its landing on Cuban soil. Admiral Sampson has cleared the bay for this undertaking and little danger is apprehended in going ashore. It will be at that time when the advance is made, that the actual dramatic developments may be expected.

The point of landing has been so chosen that there is little danger of an interruption from the Spanish forces, but should they attempt to make trouble, Admiral Sampson's ships will insure ample protection until the troops can care for themselves.

Not Entirely Safe.

The traveler down in "Old Virginia" called at the cabin of the oldest man in the county and the following disturbance took place:

"Well, Uncle George, how old are you?"

"But a hunder an twenty, chile."

"What's your full name, uncle?"

"Jawge Wash'n'ton, sah. Jes Jawge Wash'n'ton."

"You were named, then, in honor of General George Washington, the Father of His Country?"

"Yes, sah, ur Gin'ral Jawge Wash'n'ton wuz named after me. Hit's so long ago, honey, I done forget which."

And Uncle George placidly resumed his pipe and tinkled absently at his youngest, great great grandchild, a puckering of a rich chocolate tint—Chi-

Degrees to Women in the Middle Ages.

Several cases are on record where the doctorate was conferred in the middle ages upon women. Isabella Loos was made doctor of laws at Cordova and Beliza Gozadina at Bologna. As late as 1827 Marburg conferred the doctorate in philosophy upon the gifted wife of the famous philologist Wyttenbach. The degree of master was coveted by the great, Pragmatic Richman, duke of Lorraine, a master of arts. Even kings of England were honored with this title—W. T.
Hewett in Harper's Magazine.

WEAK, NERVOUS WOMEN

Suffering from palpitation of the heart, dizzy or faint spells, watery blood, etc., can be readily cured.

A Manitoba Lady Tells About Her Case.

There is no need whatever for so many women to be the subject of faint spells, heart and nerve weakness, anaemia, or any of those health destroying ailments peculiar to her sex. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills regulate the heart beat and make it strong and full, tone the nerves, enrich the blood, and relieve the pain and weakness from which so many women suffer.

Mrs. Alexander Setter, of Pigeon Bluff, Man., writes an account of her case as follows:
"I have great pleasure in giving my experience of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. For about ten years I was troubled with throbbing and fluttering of the heart. I tried five doctors and several remedies but none of them did me much good. Lately I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and bought two boxes. Before I started using them I could not do my house work and gave myself up to die, as I thought I would never be cured. Now I feel really splendid since taking the pills, do my work, enjoy my meals and feel as if there was something in life worth living for."

Choosing Good Mutton.

There is no more nutritious and healthful meat than young, healthy mutton well cooked. Mutton, like all meat, is tough when first killed and should be hung long enough to grow tender. Good mutton should have an abundance of firm, white fat, but not an overfat appearance. Sheep off of the great ranges have dark colored meat like that of wild animals, while those which do less running have meat of a lighter color.—May Woman's

YEARS OF SUFFERING.

Brought About by a Fall in Which the Back Was Severely Injured—The Pain at Times Almost Unbearable.

Mr. Geo. F. Everett, a highly respected and well-known farmer of Four Falls, Victoria Co., N. B., makes the following statement: "Some years ago, while working a barn I lost my balance, and fell from a beam, badly injuring my back. For years I suffered with the injury and at the same time doing all I could to remove it, but in vain. I at last gave up hope, and stopped doctoring.
My back had got so bad that when I would stoop over my again. When I would move with a scythe for some little time without stopping it would pain me, so that it seemed as if I could scarcely endure it, and I would lean on the handle of my scythe in order to get ease and straighten up. At other times I would be laid up entirely. After some years of suffering I was advised to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try one box. Before I had finished it I saw the pills were helping me. I bought six boxes more and the seven boxes completely cured me. It is three years since I took them and by back has not troubled me since. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an invaluable medicine and I highly recommend them to any person suffering likewise. I consider that if I had paid $10 a box for them, they would be a cheap medicine."

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration, and diseases depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions. Sold by all dealers and postpaid at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not

THE NIGER VALLEY DISPUTE.

Misunderstanding Between France and England Arranged.

The Anglo-French convention, with reference to the disputed territory in the Niger valley, has been signed. France agreed to evacuate Kisi, Bori, Ashigere, Kiam, Boussa, Gambia and Ilo, but se-retains Nikki. Furthermore on the left bank of the Niger the French get a triangular piece of territory whose base extends from Say to Ilo. In return they give Great Britain Borno, including the portion east of the meridian passing through Bori on the right bank from Say to Ilo and also Gurna. Beyond this they grant thirty years leases of bonded areas at Ilo and facilities for transit in bond. This is to secure the benefit of the navigable portion of the river. In return they give thirty years of reciprocity for the whole west coast colonies from the Librarian frontier to the Niger.

With respect to the Gulf coast the French evacuate Wa and probably Puma and Leo. In return Great Britain gives up Bona and Dawkita and accepts the Volta as the best natural boundary. The French retain Moss, which they have held for eighteen months.

The editorials in the London papers express satisfaction that the threatening dispute in the Niger valley has been arranged. They confess, however, that M.
Hanotaux, the French foreign minister, has made an excellent bargain for France, some of the sorrowfully reproaching Lord Salisbury with allowing England to be "overreached."

suffering greatly from dizziness, nerand appetite, and an almost constant tired, weak feeling. In February last I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and received so much benefit from them that I continued their use until I had taken three boxes in all, and was completely be some sadness, because it is usually and out of season. Gray hairs are a crown of honor to the aged, but to the young they are a stigma. There is no need of gray in youth. Grayness comes from deficiency of the coloring matter which is the hair's natural tint. This coloring-matter can be supplied artificially, is so supplied by Dr. J. C. Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is by supplying the lacking element that Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor restores gray or faded hair to its original color.
